The ultimate guide to meal prep

To meal prep effectively, start by planning your meals for the week, then create a grocery list based on those plans. Prep ingredients in advance and consider choosing recipes with overlapping ingredients for efficiency. Portion your meals accurately and store them in suitable containers.

Detailed Steps:

1. Plan Your Meals:

- Determine which meals you want to prep, focusing on meals you typically eat out or skip.
- Consider a meal rotation to avoid food boredom and keep things interesting.
- Start small by prepping for a few days initially, gradually increasing the number of days as you become more comfortable.

2. Create a Grocery List:

- List all ingredients needed for your planned meals, organized by store sections for efficiency.
- Check your pantry and freezer for existing items before shopping to minimize waste and save money.
- Consider buying a mix of fresh, frozen, and shelf-stable items.
